

Dashboards in Modern Excel - Additional Resources

Web Links

Here are some of my favourite Excel & Data Analysis websites and blogs – there is loads of free information here, so make sure you check them out. This is by no means an exhaustive list!

- <http://www.perceptualedge.com/> Stephen Few's blog – he is one of the most well-respected world experts on data visualisation
- <http://chandoo.org/wp/> Chandoo's is probably one of the most relevant and useful blogs I have come across for the heavy-duty Excel user. If you subscribe, barely a day goes by without a fascinating tip or Excel tidbit
- <https://www.myonlinetraininghub.com/> Mynda Treacy is an Excel MVP with some fantastic online resources and free webinars that she runs from time to time.
- <http://www.storytellingwithdata.com/> Cole Nussbaumer Knaflic has a great blog and podcast on telling stories with data
- <http://www.thefunctionalart.com/> Alberto Cairo is a data journalist who publishes a lot of great content.
- <https://stephanieevergreen.com/> Stephanie Evergreen is another useful person to follow
- <http://exceluser.com/> A great resource for reporting in Excel – Charley Kyd is one of the pre-eminent experts in Excel Dashboard Reporting
- <http://peltiertech.com/> Jon Peltier is another well-known expert in the area of charting and reporting in Excel
- <http://flowingdata.com/> is a blog dedicated to data visualisation
- <http://bibrainz.com/aof/author/micoyuk/> Mico Yuk is Business Intelligence Expert
- <https://policyviz.com/> Jonathan Schwabish interviews various data visualisation experts on The Policy Viz podcast
- <https://www.excelguru.ca/blog/> Ken Puls is an Excel MVP specialising in Power Query and comes to Australia from time to time.

Contained in the links above there are also a lot of free podcasts and newsletters you can subscribe to with handy tips and tricks. Many of these people you can follow on Twitter for a constant stream of updates and Excel tips and tricks.
